last season, Kevin Durant won the NBA scoring title. Coincidentally, Durant succeeded in defending the scoring and led the thunder into the playoffs this year. Last year, Nike designed a special "scoring king" KD II. This year's KD III "scoring king", modeled in matt black, has eliminated Flywire technology. The body of the shoe pattern seems to imply the life experience of Durant, including the Durant Farms Barry in Washington in the community league game scored 60 points record. Transparent crystal blue, large base and yellow decorative decoration, is also the highlight of this paragraph. Maybe Durant will wear the rest of the playoffs for such beautiful shoes and expect the younger team to make more miracles.
